Disclaimer:

Gold PVD coating on stainless steel is a widely accepted surface finish. However, it is not permanent and may wear off over time. Exposure to harsh detergents, chemicals, or abrasive cleaning methods can accelerate this process. Proper care and maintenance are essential to extend the life and appearance of the coating.

Rose Gold PVD coating on stainless steel is a widely accepted surface finish. However, it is not permanent and may wear off over time. Exposure to harsh detergents, chemicals, or abrasive cleaning methods can accelerate this process. Proper care and maintenance are essential to extend the life and appearance of the coating.

Gun Metal PVD coating on stainless steel is a widely accepted surface finish. However, it is not permanent and may wear off over time. Exposure to harsh detergents, chemicals, or abrasive cleaning methods can accelerate this process. Proper care and maintenance are essential to extend the life and appearance of the coating.

Disclaimer:

Antique Copper electroplating is a popular decorative finish applied to stainless steel surfaces. However, it is not a permanent coating and may fade or tarnish over time. Exposure to moisture, harsh chemicals, or abrasive cleaning can accelerate wear. Gentle cleaning and proper maintenance are recommended to preserve the finish.
